A silhouette of a family of four (father, mother, daughter, and son) standing in a field of tall grass at sunset. The father and mother are on the outside, holding hands and raising their arms to form a protective arch over their two children. The scene is backlit by the warm, golden light of the setting sun, creating a strong contrast between the dark figures and the bright sky. The text "Die for Your Family" is overlaid in white at the bottom.
